GREENFIELD, IN Amplify Hancock

Amplify Hancock is a Career and Technical Education (CTE) Training center for various end-user groups in Hancock County. Students will have access to hands-on skills training in fields including welding, HVAC installation and repair, electrical installation and repair, autobody and mechanic training, Building trades, as well as several healthcare related fields - certified nursing assistant, medical assist, dental careers, and X-ray imaging technician. The facility will serve a broad spectrum of students from all across Hancock County through all four county school districts, Ivy Tech, and Hancock Health. Future expansion of programs is also accounted for both in the site design, and providing shell space within the designed footprint. The facility represents a significant investment by the county in the career-readiness of its citizens, which in turn supports the growing industries within the county.

Amplify Hancock is a transformative project that will bring together education, private industry and the community.
